"10th CAREERS QUALITY AWARD ACHIEVES NATIONAL VALIDATION"

Dr. Barrie Hopson, chair of the Quality in Careers Consortium, established to oversee the national validation of England's specialist quality awards for all four aspects of careers education, information, advice and guidance (CEIAG) announces today the 10th CEIAG Quality Award to meet the exacting national validation criteria of the Quality in Careers Standard (QiCS).

Dr. Hopson said "In the context of helping young people to gain the skills, knowledge and confidence to take control of their learning and work pathways in today's increasingly complex labour markets, and to assist employers to ensure our nation is economically successful, this is a crucial time for CEIAG for all young people across England".

So, to help schools and colleges to enhance the quality of their overall CEIAG provision, all of England's 12 specialist CEIAG Quality Awards are fully committed to work towards QiCS national validation. Six national validation panels were held across the country in 2013, the seventh in March 2014, the eighth in July 2014, the ninth in Cambridge on 27th March 2015, and the tenth in Sheffield on 2nd July 2015.

*I am delighted to confirm that the Sheffield Careers Standard Gold CEIAG Quality Award" is now the 10th CEIAG Quality Award in England to meet the overarching national validation by the Quality in Careers Standard.

The Sheffield Quality Award is another excellent example of how a CEIAG Award can significantly help both to raise and then maintain the profile of CEIAG in schools and colleges.

The Sheffield Quality Award demonstrated a number of strengths to our national validation panel, including:

- enthusiastic and professional management of the Award, especially the approach adopted to piloting the revised award in two schools in different parts of the city and to learn from the process
- the handling of leadership and management issues in the Award scheme
- the assessment of the element in the Award relating to a planned programme of CEIAG
- dealing with the need to follow an explicit framework to embed employers' contributions in the curriculum, to consult with pupils and to use assessment to improve future provision

- a robust approach to ensuring that applicant learning providers for the Award meet the requirement to provide independent and impartial careers guidance by seeking evidence that pupils have access to external careers guidance and that internal careers guidance practitioners subscribe to the CDI code of professional practice and are qualified to QCF level 6 the way the core principles of equality and diversity are dealt with in the assessment process.

It means that the following 10 specialist CEIAG Quality Awards now meet the over-arching national validation standard. These are:

- 1. Career Connect (Greater Merseyside)
- 2. Career Mark (Futures)
- 3. C & K Careers Quality Standard (West Yorkshire)
- 4. Inspiring IAG (Greater Manchester)
- 5. Investing in Quality (Cambridgeshire)
- 6. Investor in Careers (Careers South West)
- 7. Prospects Award in CEIAG (Prospects Services)
- 8. Recognition of Quality Award for CEIAG (Essex County Council)
- 9. Sheffield Careers Standard Gold Quality Award
- 10. Stoke on Trent CEIAG Quality Award (Stoke on Trent Local Authority)

Each of these specialist, dedicated CEIAG quality awards aims to ensure that providing CEIAG of the highest quality should be the goal for everyone working with young people across the country in our schools, colleges, work-based learning and in specialist careers guidance organisations."

QiCS Director, Paul Chubb, commented:

"This is further encouraging news to be able to celebrate – we now have 10 of the 12 CEIAG Quality Awards in England validated against the national criteria of QiCS.

These continue to be the most challenging times both for young people as they progress towards their late teens and early 20s, as well as for the CEIAG professionals striving to help all young people to gain the skills, knowledge and confidence to take control of their future learning and work, and to secure their economic success.

The Quality in Careers Standard has established itself as a real beacon of hope for every young person. With these 10 Awards now demonstrating that they meet our exacting national validation criteria, this will assure not only young people and their families but also the nation's employers that, where their local school or college holds one of these Awards, it has in place the essential foundations which CEIAG needs to prepare young people to make best use of the careers guidance which they will receive.

We now look forward to the remaining 2 Awards, which are already working through their applications, coming forward for national validation in the coming months.

The Quality in Careers Standard has become firmly embedded in the fabric of this changing era in which schools and colleges have the statutory duty to 'secure independent careers guidance' for all of their students.

The evidence from the 10 national validation panels we have held across the country is that Quality Awards raise the quality of CEIAG provision, and - crucially in today's economy - ensure that (amongst other matters) all of the valuable contributions of employers to careers education and guidance are properly and effectively integrated into a planned CEIAG programme.

*With over 1100 schools and colleges voluntarily working towards or holding a dedicated CEIAG quality award already, we commend - to every Head Teacher/College Principal and school/college governing body – the recommendation (now confirmed by the Department for Education in its March 2015 revised Statutory Guidance¹ to schools) that the statutory duty on schools and colleges to secure independent careers guidance for pupils and students (which covers years 8 through to post-16 since September 2013), will be most effective when these three elements coexist in a school or college:

- Its overall CEIAG programme is quality assured against one of the dedicated Quality Awards available and that Award should meet the QiCS national validation.*
- The school/college builds upon its internal programme by securing specialist careers advice and guidance services from an external provider, close to the labour market and therefore able to assist young people to make informed choices – such a provider should meet the accepted 'industry standard' for advice and guidance on learning and work, the 'matrix Standard'.*
- The externally secured provider of careers guidance should employ professional careers advisers who are occupationally competent to professional standards – as determined by the Career Development Institute".*
